

The William Wilberforce Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 relates to the legal rights of employment-based non immigrants (A-3, G-5, NATO-7, H, J, & B-1 domestic employees) under Federal immigration, labor, and employment laws.

As a temporary visitor to the United States, it is important that you are aware of your rights, as well as protections and resources available when you come to work or study there.

We ask therefore, that you review this information before attending your visa interview \(PDF\).
